tence of the Richmond Dispatch. NORFOLK, March 31, 1886. An accidental fire broke out in the dispensary in the navy-yard this morn-ing after work had commenced, and considerable damage resulted before the workmen with the fire-apparatus of the yard could extinguish the flames. As there was a furious gale blowing at the time, and the crews of the war-vessels were being rushed ashore, there was great excitement among the officers and workmen and those living in the vicinity of the yard. A young man by the name of McLaughlin, a workman, was badly hurt by a heavy hose-car-riage knocking him down and running over his stomach.

No Cape Charles, Baltimore, or Washngton steamers have arrived here as yet to-day, owing to the severe wind-storm prevailing on Chesapeake bay. A furisponded to in the happiest manner by Mayor Bryant, A. D. Stultz, and others, us gale has been blowing here all daythe worst during the month-doing considerable damage to light frame-work, &c., around the two cities. The Government telegraph line from this city down the coast was totally prostrated at an early hour, and the other lines have sent out gangs to repair damages. It is believed that the gale has caused serious damage along the coast, and the observer hopes to hear from Cape Henry to-night.

Judge Watts, Captain Hope, M. Glennan, Colonel George T. Rogers (former secretary to Mr. Goode), and a number of other Democrats from this section have just been summoned before the Senate Judiciary Committee to testify in regard to the election frauds charged against Mr. Goode.
